THE U. S. BANK.

A writer in the Morning Post, who commences his essay against the U. S. Bank by intimating that the Legislature now in session is under the influence of that institution, in appointing a committee of investigation to look into the affairs of the Bank which have been thought by some to have violated their charter—maintains that the Branch Bank in this city has $501,184 on hand, and he blames it for not granting further loans.

The questions now before the public are, 1st, whether a contract made between the Government and the Bank for certain rights and privileges, and for which that institution has performed important services, and paid a bonus of $1,500,000—shall be violated upon certain alleged charges against it, made by President Jackson, and repeated by Mr. Taney, but which have been shown to be groundless. Not only have they been shown to be groundless, but there are good reasons for believing, that they were known to be groundless by those who drew up the documents, and by those who signed them. I think no candid man can read the documents without coming to this conclusion.

The U. S. Bank and all its branches have waged against them for some time, a most deadly and dangerous war, by two parties—1st, by President Jackson, backed by the assumed power of the nation, and stimulated to mischief by a set of men of the most desperate prospects and desperate characters. 2nd, by a set of individuals who have speculated upon a fall in the price of the stock, and who will probably be ruined, if by discrediting the institution, they cannot reduce its price, having made contracts to deliver at a rate much below the existing one.

These two parties are watching for an opportunity to break up some one or other of the branches of this institution, for the accomplishment of their several purposes.

Is the inquiry of the writer in the Post answered to his satisfaction? If not, let him call on the stockholders or directors of the Branch, respecting these enormous charges from the same source against the institution, and he will perhaps get an answer that may be to his entire satisfaction.

Comment.—That the motion to inquire into the condition of the deposit Banks, in this city, originated in the Senate, from a gentleman of that body, lately, if not now, the regular attorney of the Bank, we have every reason to believe—and we presume the writer in the Daily has no doubt of the correctness of this belief.

In regard to the specie in the Branch in this city on the first instant, we simply stated the condition of the Branch; we asked no questions why it did or did not discount—we left it for bankers to decide as to its ability to discount. The correctness of our statement is not denied, we perceive—we do not blame the directors. We have said so before, and have borne testimony to their personal worth.—They are ordered by Mr. Biddle, at whose fiat they became directors, on whose breath their official existence depends, to hoard, and they must hoard—we do not blame them; we only object to the institution which can work upon us with such machinery.

But we will for the present pass from this, to the matter of contract. What was this contract? The 20th section of the Bank charter says—"That in consideration of the exclusive privileges and benefits conferred by this act, upon said Bank, the President, Directors and Company thereof, shall pay to the United States, out of the corporate funds thereof, the sum of $1,500,000 in three equal payments." What were the exclusive "privileges?" That no other Bank should be chartered. What the "benefits?"—among others, "that the bills or notes of said corporation, originally made payable, or which shall become payable on demand, shall be receivable in all payments to the United States, unless otherwise directed by act of Congress." Can any one doubt the right of Congress to enact that those notes shall not be taken? Is that reserved right, not as much a part of the contract, as the right to receive the notes at all?

Again, the 16th section of the charter says—"That the deposits of the money of the United States, in places in which said Bank and Branches thereof may be established, shall be made in said Bank and Branches thereof, unless the Secretary of the Treasury shall at any time otherwise order and direct." Is not this reserved right as clearly a part of the contract as the other? The right is distinctly reserved to the Secretary to direct the deposits to be placed elsewhere, at any time and for any cause, and this is part and parcel of the contract. The friends of the Bank retreat from this view of the subject, and contend that the President had no legal power to remove Mr. Duane, who had refused to remove the deposits—on this point we refer to the opinion of Mr. Calhoun, in his late able argument against the removal of the deposits.

"I cannot doubt that the President has, under the Constitution, the right of removal from office; nor can I doubt that the power of removal, wherever it exists, does, from necessity, involve the power of general supervision; nor can I doubt that it might be constitutionally exercised in reference to the deposits. Remove the present case—suppose the late Secretary, instead of being against, had been in favor of the removal, and that the President, instead of for, had been against it, deeming the removal not only inexpedient, but, under circumstances, illegal; would any man doubt, that under such circumstances, he had a right to remove his Secretary, if it were the only means of preventing the removal of the deposits? Nay, would it not be his indispensable duty to have removed him? and, had he not, would not he have been universally and justly held responsible?"

After perusing these remarks, we think no candid person will re-assert, that the contract or any contract has been violated. It may not have been expedient to exercise this power, but there can be no doubt that the right to remove existed, and now exists.

We come then, to the reasons for removal, which the Daily says are not only groundless charges made by President Jackson and Mr. Taney against the Bank—"not only shown to be groundless, but there are good reasons for believing that they were known to be groundless by those who drew up the documents, and by those who signed them." Passing by this specimen of "good society" good breeding, of charging deliberate falsehood upon the President and the Secretary of the Treasury, two citizens not more elevated in public station, than exalted for private worth, let us look at the facts. Are those charges admitted to be groundless? Surely, so far from that, they have been in general terms tacitly admitted and attempted to be justified, both by the Biddle directors in their memorial to Congress, and by the Bank Advocate in Congress, Mr. Binney. The great debate now going on in Congress, is on this question. The friends of the Administration wishing the matter referred to the Committee of Ways and Means to make a thorough and detailed investigation into these charges, and the friends of the Bank are resisting that reference for the purpose of stifling inquiry.

To resume the subject of discounts again—if what the Daily says be true, that the Bank curtails and is compelled to hoard, to guard against the assaults of President Jackson, and the runs of the brokers, it shows that the Bank has no power to relieve the community, and hardly sufficient to protect itself, and is so far, a worthless institution. The Government has had no concern in running on it, or its branches. The Bank was apprised of all the transfer drafts, about as early as they were issued by the persons who held them—and it knew the contingency on which they were to be used—and as to any run on any branch, the government nor government Banks have in no way had any agency in it—we speak understandingly on this point. The Bank can have no fear, now, of drafts from the government, for they have drawn nearly all their money. No, the real, undeniable fact still stares the public in the face, that this great monied corporation is using its power, to coerce the Government, by oppressing the people, into a renewal of its charter. This is the true state of the case—and it is so understood by a large majority of the people. We think that those who resisted British tyranny will resist Bank tyranny.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Tuesday, Jan. 21.—In the Senate, the order of inquiry recently passed in the House, relating to the 5th section of the "Act on Banks and Banking," passed in concurrence.

In the House, numerous petitions were presented. A memorial from Perez Morton, late Attorney General, was referred to the committee on the Library.

Pursuant to previous assignment, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and the Council came into a Convention of both Houses, and were qualified for entering upon their respective duties, by taking the oaths prescribed.—The two branches having separated, the Secretary of the Commonwealth was ordered to notify the Governor of the election of the Executive Council—and the House adjourned.

His Excellency John Davis was inducted into office, with the Lieut. Governor, and the Honorable Council, yesterday. The big guns were fired on the occasion, and his Excellency delivered a speech, the main subjects of which seemed to be the Bank of the United States and imprisonment for debt. The remainder was general remark; for, as his Excellency very candidly observed, he had not, as yet, acquainted himself with the interests of the State in detail, but reserved the special matters for future communications to the Legislature. Upon the Bank he intimated an opinion that the hostility of the National Executive would destroy it. His remarks upon imprisonment for debt reprobated the existence of the law which sanctions it, in the most decided terms. He is in favor of free schools, rail roads, and the militia.

CITY AFFAIRS.

At a meeting of the Mayor and Aldermen, on Monday,

Thomas C. Amory, Esq. was unanimously re-elected Chief Engineer of the Fire Department.

The following Engineers of said department were nominated and appointed, to rank in the order in which they stand: Messrs Benj. M. Nevers, John Hammond, David Tillson, Henry Smith, David Kimball, George M. Smith, John Green, Jr., Wm. G. Eaton, Asa Swallow, James G. Sanderson, Richard A. Newell, Wm. B. Petition of the Manager of the Warren Theatre, for a renewal of the license of said theatre: referred to Aldermen Wetmore and Greele.

CONGRESS.

Friday, Jan. 17.—In the Senate, Mr. Clay's resolution submitted on Tuesday, in regard to the pressure in the money market was called up. Mr. Clay moved to amend Mr. Forsyth's amendment by extending the period of payment of revenue of bonds, under suitable precautions or otherwise, within the constitutional powers of Congress. Mr. Poindexter then addressed the Senate, and was followed by Mr. Benton, for a few moments; when Mr. Webster, expressing a wish to be heard upon the subject, moved that the resolution lie upon the table until Monday, which was agreed to.

Removal of the Deposits.—Mr. Rives addressed the Senate until 5 o'clock in support of the reasons of the Secretary, and against the resolutions of Mr. Clay, when Mr. Ewing took the floor and moved an adjournment, which was carried.

In the House, Mr. Chilton's resolution upon the Pension Laws, with Mr. Bouldin's amendment, came up as the unfinished business. After a short debate, Mr. Pinckney moved the indefinite postponement of the subject. Before the decision of this question the House proceeded to other business.

The House disagreed (112 to 70) to an amendment of the Senate to the bill for the contingent expenses of Congress, striking out the clause restricting the appropriation for contingencies to mere stationary, &c. and the printing of such public documents as may be ordered by both Houses in the routine of business: unless it were otherwise ordered by a joint resolution of both Houses.

A second Daniel.—The National Intelligencer has discovered that those State Legislatures which pass resolutions in favor of the Bank, represent "public opinion"—while such as approve of the removal of the deposits, exhibit "only the operation of the caucus principle, which binds men to vote contrary to their own belief of what the public interest requires."

The Miss Crockett lately married at Columbia (Tenn.) is no daughter of David's. He says "there's a heap of Crocketts" in that state, but none of them of his blood.

Eight Days Later from Europe.—After an interval of four weeks, during which we had not received a word of news from England, the packet ship George Washington, Capt. Holdridge, arrived at New York on Saturday evening, bringing London papers to Nov. 25th, and Liverpool to the 26th, both inclusive.

There is nothing from Portugal so late as we have received direct.

London, Nov. 24.—That the assessed taxes must be repealed in the next session of Parliament, is now admitted as a moral certainty.

A tax upon gin, foreign wines, gas-lights, is spoken of as likely to be imposed next session, in lieu of the Assessed Taxes.

Dublin, Nov. 19.—At Mr. O'Connell's call a parochial meeting was held to petition Parliament for the total extinction of tithes, ministers' money, and a Repeal of the Union.

France and Sweden.—A rupture is reported to have taken place between France and Sweden on account of a play! The king of Sweden required the king of the French to suspend the performance of Gustave, ou le Bal Masque, at the French Opera, and the Camarade au Lit, at the Vaudeville; and because Louis Philippe refuses, offence is taken—a rupture ensues. The commercial relations between the two States will continue to be regulated by consular agents, but diplomatic relations have entirely ceased.

Spain.—A telegraphic despatch from Bayonne, dated the 19th inst., announces that intelligence has just been received of an important advantage gained over the rebels by Gen. Saarsfield. The General, it is stated, had quitted on the 11th, marching upon Vittoria, with a considerable body of troops. At Belorado he met the insurgents under the command of Merino, and routed them after a warm combat. On the 14th he was at Pancorbo. The insurgents left a great number of killed upon the field of battle, and 200 were made prisoners. It is asserted that Merino had retired to Miranda, with 4000 men of his bad troops.

Poland.—The Journal des Debats announces that Austria, Prussia and Russia, have signed an offensive and defensive treaty respecting Poland; that in the event of a revolt in any part of the old kingdom of Poland, each of the three powers is to march 35,000 men (together 105,000 men); that administrative and other reform may be granted, but that nothing like an independent kingdom of Poland will even be heard of by the three powers.

Liverpool, Nov. 25.—The sales in Cotton on Saturday were 3500 bags, generally at 4d per lb advance upon the previous day, of which 1000 American were taken on speculation.—To day fully 3500 are sold, chiefly to the trade, at a further improvement of 4d per lb. About 400 bags American on speculation, and much more would have been, but buyers were not willing to give the advance asked.

"Please to give me some cold victuals," said a little girl, with a basket on her arm, to a servant whom her ringing had summoned to the door. POLICE COURT.

"No American gentleman e-ver treat me so before," said a respectable and matronly French lady, yesterday afternoon, as she concluded her testimony against a dealer in dry goods, in Washington street.—As this case must create a great sensation, we shall be somewhat particular, in stating the facts:

The lady, through an interpreter under oath, made the following statement: she went into the store, and inquired for a pair of suspenders—he took down three pair fastened together, and asked her fifty cents a pair—he did not say the different pairs were different prices—she offered him two shillings—but agreed to give 2s. 4d.—he then did up for her the smallest pair—he said she could not have them without paying 50 cents. She took hold of them and the defendant forced them out of her hands, and slapped her on both sides of the face with the wire ends. He also refused to return the money she had paid, and she had to pay him the balance before she could take the high price pair, the small pair not answering her purpose.

The counter-statement by the shop-boy was, that she snatched the suspenders out of the defendant's hands, which she clasped, and that he slapped her face to disengage them.

The lady, through her interpreter, emphatically denied this statement.

The Judge remarked, that, even admitting the facts offered in defence, still he ought to have considered she was a woman, a foreigner, and unacquainted with the language, and that he could see nothing that justified his striking her. Fined $3 00.

Ann street Jollification.—Bill, Jack and Sam, a trio of tarry breeks, were complained against by Captain Edward Gray, for a breach of the peace. They were on a West India cruise, on Monday night, and hailed the Captain's rum-craft, after he had piped all hands to their hammocks, and he refused to let them come on board, "because it was after hours." As our tars had been accommodated there before at a later hour, they were thrown all aback by the landlord's sudden spasm of coyness, and expressed their astonishment by kicking open his cabin door, and hauling down his colors. The Captain brought his tin sign board, rolled up like a bunting rag, in proof of his complaint. They were discharged upon recognizing to keep the peace till February, and paying costs, which they did very cheerfully, and also sent three special messengers to request us not to put their frolic in the papers.—"They would rather pay 10 dollars than have it go in;" and we would rather have 10 dollars than put it in. But we drive a cash business, and the said 10 dollars were not forthcoming.

An Old Offender.—J. S. Jones, (alias Lacaille) whose "unmannered jests have been blurted in the faces" of many well disposed persons, will be tried at the Warren Court this evening, under the statute prohibiting "ambidextrous tricks." It is alleged, that on divers times within six months last past, he has been wandering about from place to place, in and about a certain theatre, assuming various disguises, and using certain vain and frivolous, and witty dialogues, whereby numerous sober citizens have been constrained and sorely tempted to laughter and revelry when they didn't want to, thereby becoming an evil example to all others in like manner to offend; and also that the said metamorphosis did on one occasion appear in the similitude of Bill Ball, the printer, and abuse and insult a Colonel of his Britannic Majesty's horse, contrary to the laws of nations, Great Britain being at peace with the United States; and further, that he did write and cause to be exhibited, a certain play, called "Tam O'Shanter," being aided therein by certain "familiar spirits and witches," contrary to the statute made and provided, against witchcraft; and lastly, that under the false name of Lacaille, he aided and abetted in a burglary with one Julio Dormilly, whose case is reported in the "Six Degrees of Crime," which will be read on his trial. "Blue Beard" will appear as an evidence against him, on the point of contumacy.

To these charges he pleads not guilty, and puts himself upon his country—that is, the laughter-loving lads and ladies of Boston.—The solemnities of the trial, will be relieved with an appropriate song, by Mr. Dickson, entitled the "Boston Robber."

N. B. A collection will be taken up by the clerk of the court, to enable him to meet the expenses of the trial.

A letter from Baring, Brothers & Co., London, dated Nov. 22d, says, "that there is a great scarcity of money in our Colonial market."

We suppose, therefore, that large meetings in London, Liverpool, Manchester and Birmingham, will immediately be called to protest against the usurpation of President Jackson, in removing the deposits from the Bank of the United States, as that is no doubt, the reason for the scarcity of money in England.

Correction.—In a report of the case of the Commonwealth vs. Noah James and Elbridge G.
